

RCLS March Culture Class Teacher of Month

Renee Warren

RCLS is proud to announce our March Culture Class Teacher of Month – kung-fu teacher Renee Warren to our RCLS families. Ms. Warren has been RCLS Chinese kung-fu teacher since spring 2006. With a lot of patience and passions, Ms. Warren brings her students into the world of kung-fu as her class is mixed of beginners as well as Kung-fu veterans. When not teaching kung-fu classes, she often brought her students representing RCLS to show off their kung-fu skills in several festivals. She often asked her students to come early to rehearsal to make sure they are ready on the stage before the show. You are not going to miss her smile when she saw her students performing their wonderful kung-fu skills on the stage.

Her students and their parents speak highly about the way Ms. Warren teaches kung-fu inside and outside of classes:

“Ms. Warren is very patient. She won’t get angry no matter how long it takes for me to learn her kung-fu skill.”

“Other than kung-fu, Ms. Warren always teaches us how to respect other people.”

“When I have problem with any kung-fu movement, she always encourage me to improve my movement until I get it right.”

You can see why Ms. Warren is the winner of our March Culture Class Teacher of Month based on what parents and students are speaking of her teaching. RCLS is glad to have her as one of our outstanding teachers. We will like to congratulate Ms. Warren and wish she can continue her excellent teaching performance inside and outside her classroom.
